TEACHERS IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

The Weber county superintendent of schools and the board of education have practically decided upon the corps of teachers to have charge of the various schools during the coming school year. It is stated that there may be other changes before the opening of the schools, September 19, but the list now completed virtually gives the personnel of the Weber county teachers.

Everything is in readiness for the school opening and Superintendent Peterson states that it looks as though the enrollment on the first day will exceed that of former years. Much interest is being taken by the parents and pupils throughout the county and an effort is being made to get the larger children away from farm work and place them in school at the beginning. The harvest season is two weeks earlier than usual, which means that the crops are being harvested earlier than usual. This will make it possible for the boys who have been helping on the farm to start their school work at an earlier period.

The new school houses at Eden and Pleasant View are ready for occupancy and the repairs on all other school houses have been completed. Mr. Peterson states that next week he will meet with a committee to be appointed by the state superintendent of schools for the purpose of revising the school curriculum for this year. It has not been revised for four years, says Superintendent Peterson, and it is thought that beneficial changes can now be made in the courses of study to be pursued by the students. The change made by the committee will be general in the county schools of the state, and it is expected that the

FIFTEEN MILES OF FOREST FIRE

Men Battling With the Flames Send a Message of Distress to Ogden and More Rangers Are Started North--Targhee Conflagration Not Yet Under Control--350 Fire Fighters in the Field.

A high wind prevailed near Island Park last night and this morning the fire line was fifteen miles long in the Targhee forest, near the entrance to Yellowstone park, and the men in charge of the fire fighters were exhausted. Such is the substance of a message received at the local forest service headquarters by Division Forester A. E. Sherman. The appeal for aid has been answered by sending men and equipment from here, and this afternoon even heads of departments, trained in the care of forests, will leave Ogden to relieve the men in the field who have been constantly on guard day and night since the fires in southern Idaho broke out.

There are 350 men fighting the Targhee fire and they are expected to gain control of the flames as soon as the heavy wind which has prevailed since last Saturday subsides. This morning District Forester Sherman talked by telephone with Supervisor Dave Barnett regarding the fire situation in the Targhee forest. Mr. Barnett was at the Island Park railway station, while he was talking to Mr. Sherman, who is in the midst of the burning timber.

Mr. Barnett stated that the wind blew quite heavily last night, causing the fire to burn fiercely, and that the fire-fighters this morning were worn out. They were fighting fire like T-jans all night and against such odds as to make the fight a discouraging one.

Mr. Sherman immediately communicated with the supervisor at the Potomac headquarters and instructed him to proceed to the fire with men as soon as possible.

Supervisor William Anderson and

Rangers Grant Carpenter and Albert A. Hardy of the Ashley forest, who arrived in the city last evening from Vernal, and Assistant Forester Timothy C. Hoyt of the land department of the service, also were dispatched to Island park to aid in the management of the campaign against the fire. They will reach their destination some time during the night.

It is stated that, after the fire in the Targhee forest has been placed under complete control, the entire country must be patrolled until the snow and rain of the fall completely overcome the fire.

The following self-explanatory telegram was received from Assistant Forester A. E. Sherman, the crazing department, who is now at Salmon, and has been aiding in fighting the fire in the Salmon forest for the past number of days:

"Snow and rain last night. Salmon fires under control. Expect to go from here to Challis. Wire instructions to Salmon, if any."
Mr. Sherman says he will have no instructions to send Mr. McCain, and that he thinks he is needed at Challis, more so than at Salmon at the present time. This indicates that the fire zone has been well covered and that the flames are virtually conquered in their mad career of destruction.
Forester Sherman states that, aside from the damage done to the timber and farm property, the loss of life, and the destruction of the ranges, the fires of the forests in this district is costing the forest service department $2,000 a day to fight. There can be no cessation in the fight against the fire, says the forester, even though it should cost $10,000 a day.

OPENING OF THE NEW BANK

"The Security Trust & Savings Bank," under the presidency of T. D. Ryan, will open its doors to the public in Ogden on Thursday morning. The board of directors consists of men prominent in the industrial and business life of Ogden and the intermountain states. They are men of great business aptitude, of large and extensive financial and commercial experience and of unquestioned probity.

John F. Kelly of Britton, S. D., has been closely identified with Mr. Ryan in financing and firmly establishing on a safe and solid foundation, the Security Trust & Savings Bank.

Mr. Kelly's long and honorable affiliation with the mercantile and banking interests of his state, his record for uprightness, ability and honesty, and his position in the ranks of financially sound men lend to this new enterprise an assurance of success and prosperity.

The intimate identification of Mr. Ryan with the financial and monetary interests of Ogden and the states of Utah, Nevada and Idaho, and his long experience with security, banking and loan companies, guarantee the integrity and permanence of the institution now opening.

The Security Trust & Savings bank enters the business life of our state and city with a paid up capital of $50,000 and an over-subscribed acceptance of many thousands of dollars.

The Security Trust & Savings bank enters the financial market with a capable and trained staff of courteous officials. It will aim to safeguard its depositors and protect its patrons in all transactions calling for vigilance and efficiency.

Its savings department will be an essential feature where all deposits will draw interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, compounded quarterly.

A burglar proof manganese safe will be installed, and also an ample supply of safety deposit boxes of the most approved pattern.

furnishing the company with from five to six cars of peaches every day, and the end is not yet.

The fruit shipments made by this company are all placed on the eastern market at auction sale, most of the products commanding good prices. Manager Derrig states that in all the shipments so far made this year, the grower has been netted from 50 cents to 60 cents a case and that the sales in the east have been running from 75 cents to 90 cents per case.

A strenuous complaint is being made by the Chicago buyer of fruits against the discriminations made against Utah fruit shipments. It was wired to Manager Derrig this morning that fruit shipments leaving California points at the same time others leave Utah points, arrive in Chicago three days ahead of the Utah product. This cannot be accounted for unless the railroad companies are deliberately sidetracking Utah fruit for the California shipments. An investigation is going to be made with the view of correcting the wrong.

C. A. Stevens is building a residence on Pingree avenue, between Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets, to cost over $15,000.

At a cost of a few hundred dollars, the Central Hotel dining room is being remodeled. A new floor is being placed in the room and a new front is being installed.

James Crosby is constructing a residence on Healy avenue, between Thirty-first and Thirty-second streets. It will cost about $12,000.

W. E. Call has begun the erection of a residence on Goddard avenue, between Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets, the cost to be in the neighborhood of $1,100.

MOTHER'S "NOTIONS"

Good for Young People to Follow

"My little-grandson often comes up to show me how large the muscles of his arms are."

"He was a delicate child, but has developed into a strong, healthy boy and Postum has been the principal factor."

"I was induced to give him the Postum because of my own experience with it."

"I am sixty years old, and have been a victim of nervous dyspepsia for many years. Have tried all sorts of medicines and had treatment from many physicians, but no permanent relief came. I believe nervous dyspepsia suffer more than other sick people, as they are affected mentally as well as physically."

"I used to read the Postum advertisements in our paper. At first I gave but little attention to them, thinking it was a fraud like so many I had read, but finally something in one of the advertisements made me conclude to try it."

"I was very particular to have it prepared strictly according to directions, and used good rich cream. It was very nice indeed, and about bedtime I said to the members of the family that I believed I felt better. One of them laughed and said, 'That's another of mother's notions,' but the notion has not left me yet."

"I continued to improve right along after leaving off coffee and taking Postum, and now after three years' use I feel so well that I am almost young again. I know Postum was the cause of the change in my health and I cannot say too much in its favor. I wish I could persuade all nervous people to use it."

FACTORY TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

Officers of the Amalgamated Sugar company of this city state that their chemists have recently tested the beets from a majority of the fields of Weber county and adjacent sections. The report is that the sugar beet of this year is as sweet as it was last year and that the output of sugar per ton will equal the output of 1909. So far matured are many of the beets that the company has ordered the farmers to begin digging September 6. The factory will open about September 10.

The crop this year is not as large as it was last year, because there is not so great an acreage and because the season has not been so propitious for the cultivation of the root. The crop is large enough, however, say the officers, to guarantee an extensive run of the factory. The factory is in readiness for the campaign, every wheel of the machinery having been repaired and oiled.

WILTON LACKAYE IN "THE BATTLE"

Cleveland Moffett's play "The Battle" in which Wilton Lackaye is to be seen at the Ogden Theatre Thursday of next week, told New Yorkers some pretty harsh truths about their city. Despite the fact that the play's scenes are laid in New York, citizens elsewhere cannot afford to shrug their shoulders and let these truths glance off at that account. Conditions are much the same in all of our large cities, and human nature is pretty much the same the world over. "The Battle" is said to stimulate interest in public affairs. For that alone it should be welcome everywhere. Seats now selling.

EDISON CALLED ON TO KILL MOSQUITO

Orange, N. J., Aug. 30--Several residents of New Jersey have sent Thomas A. Edison a petition urging him to turn his inventive genius against the Jersey mosquito, the ravages of which, they say, this summer have been the most serious in many years.

"I am never bothered by the mosquitoes," Mr. Edison told some of his neighbors when the subject was brought up. You see, I am just deaf enough so that I can't hear them coming. I think their hum must be worse than their bite, for everybody grows when ever a mosquito hums."

Mr. Edison has made no formal reply to the petitioners.

BELMONT TO OPEN BIG LEDGE 400 FEET DEEPER

The Tonopah Belmont company is preparing to let contracts, it is said, for sinking its enlarged shaft 400 feet deeper, giving it a total depth of more than 1500 feet. It is believed that as fast as each 100 feet additional depth is gained a station will be cut and a new crosscut will be run to the big ledge, which has been developed between the 600 and 1,150-foot levels, and which on the lower level is producing the best ore ever taken from the mine. New equipment, which is being installed, is expected to give the Belmont opportunity to materially increase its output.

CRUSADE WILL END IN A FARCE

So Says Rev. Elderkin on the Witness Stand in the Gambling Cases--He Declares Betterment League Will Stop Gambling, Close the Saloons and Bottle Up the Social Evil.

Two roulette wheels, a faro layout and a stack of poker chips and cards, confiscated by the city authorities on the night of the Betterment league reformers' raid of local gambling houses, were brought into the municipal court room by the prosecution in the Smith case and displayed during the entire session of the Elephant house gambling trial this morning. The introduction of such tangible evidence shows that it is City Attorney J. H. Devine's intention to leave no stone unturned to assure the conviction of both John Smith and E. A. Smith, the defendants.

When the Smith trial was continued on last Friday morning, Rev. N. S. Elderkin had just completed his direct testimony, in which he had reviewed the visit to the alleged gambling houses in company with the other members of the Betterment league and Mayor William Glasmann on the night of August 3.

Detective Pender was the first witness called to the stand this morning, but his testimony merely related to the arrest and the confiscation of the gambling paraphernalia from the Elephant rooms on the night of August 11. After some questioning of the officer regarding the arrest, the detective was requested by the prosecution to fetch into the room the gambling devices which had been taken into possession by the police. The devices were brought into the court room and identified by the officer. There was no cross-examination of Detective Pender and, with his dismissal from the stand, the Rev. Mr. Elderkin took his place.

The cross-examination of the Betterment league leader was handled by Attorney T. D. Johnson of counsel for the defense, and was of a most rigid nature. It was, however, lacking in that manner of an answer which was displayed in the Turf case by Attorney Horn. In telling of the circumstances leading up to the raid, the minister told of frequent visits made by a committee of the league to the office of Mayor Glasmann.

"Mr. Glasmann wanted us to make a spectacular raid on the gambling houses, and at first we refused to consider his plans. Later we allowed the wool to be pulled over our eyes and the raid was made," explained the witness.

"Why do you use the term, 'pulled the wool over our eyes,' Mr. Elderkin?" asked Attorney Johnson.

"Why--this spectacular raid--this--all this--it's nothing more than a farce--it will amount to nothing," stammered the minister, disconnectedly, the complete thought seeming to be floundering in a tidal wave of indignation and hopeless Puritanic wrath.

"How many active members has the Betterment League at present?" was asked.

"Between two and three hundred members in all. I think they are all what might be termed active."

"In regard to gambling, Mr. Elderkin, what is the intention of the league?"

"Its endeavor is to stop all police-protected gambling."

"What do you term police-protected gambling?"

"This paying of a stipulated fee monthly and the continuation of the offense of gambling daily."

"Don't you mean police regulated gambling, Mr. Elderkin?"

"I believe that is what Mr. Glasmann calls it."

"The mayor has told you what his policy is concerning gambling and you know the attitude on the question taken by the men at the time of the present administration's election to office."

"Yes, I heard a gambler say on the day before the election that he hoped and prayed that Mr. Glasmann would be elected."

"Well his prayer was answered," smiled the questioning attorney and the smile spread over the entire room.

"Don't you think, Mr. Elderkin, that the people get the kind of government that they want?"

"I suppose that they get the kind that they deserve--I should not say that they get the kind that they want."

Attorney Johnson explained to the witness that the city obtained from the gambling houses in Ogden near ly $50,000 a year and that the city needed this money just at present because of certain debts. Mr. Elderkin was asked if he did not know that the city secured so large a revenue from the gaming houses.

"I have never figured out just what the city taxes the gamblers," replied the minister and then, looking to the judge, he asked, "Let's see, Judge, what is the usual fine?"

Judge Murphy did not accept the levity of the remark in a friendly manner and warned the witness to answer the questions put to him and not to attempt to make insinuations against the court.

"During Mr. Brewer's administration, Mr. Elderkin," asked the interrogating attorney, "don't you suppose that there was gambling, after it was no longer regulated?"

"A gambler is a law-breaker and I suppose that most of them continued to break the law."

"Why did you call this raid a farce?"

"Because, Mr. Johnson, we are going to all the trouble and expense and in the end the gamblers will be merely fined for the month of August and the vice will continue."

"Isn't it true, Mr. Elderkin, that there are men on the board of trustees of the Betterment League who favor Mr. Glasmann's policy of regulation?"

"I certainly hope not."

"Are there members of the league of Mr. Glasmann's opinion?"

"There may be, I don't know."

"What other vices has the league in view, Mr. Elderkin?"

"First of all, we have the liquor question; second, the gambling vice, and third, the social evil."

"Have you settled the liquor question?"

"The liquor question will never be settled until the saloon is abolished. The prompt answer--a phrase stereotyped by prohibition advocates half a century ago."

An attempt was made to drag the Sunday theatre into the trial by the defense, but was ruled out of the court.

"On the night of the raid or your visit Mr. Elderkin, did you see any boys in the gambling houses you visited?"

"I did not see any boys in the rooms, to my recollection."

The minister stated that it was the intention of the Betterment league to make it so uncomfortable for the gamblers in Ogden that they would leave the city.

Hagbert Anderson, the city jailer, was called to the stand and told of the arrest, stating that there was no cash bond deposited by the defendants.

A. A. Lampert, who was next called, testified that he is employed as night watchman at the Elephant saloon and club rooms. He stated that it was his duty to prevent suspicious characters, drunks, etc., from entering the club rooms.

Throughout his testimony Mr. Lampert proved to be an adept dodger of the positive, and the most nimble evader of the word gambling who has so far taken the stand. Like the proverbial flea, he was never just where the accusing, prying finger of the prosecuting attorney could hold him down, direct, and incriminating statement. He did not know positively that one of the devices in the court room was a faro table and he apparently sazed upon a roulette wheel with all the innocent wonderment of a child. He admitted that he has been acting as guard for the Elephant saloon and club rooms for a year, but could not tell just who his employer is. Neither could he tell the nature of the business that is conducted in the club rooms. He left the stand without making any statements that would be of service to the prosecution.

The court adjourned at noon until tomorrow morning when the gambling case will be continued.

Judge Murphy this afternoon, in passing sentence on Tyree of the Turf, who was found guilty of conducting a gambling place, fined the proprietor $125.
